Thai Boxing Bout

NEWS 24 MAR 09 @ 10:00AM | BY POLLY SIMONS

Dylan Resnekov will fight to retain his Australian thai boxing title.

“Preparing for this fight has been a job it itself and it has certainly been hard work,” said 29-year-old first-time fighter Cheah, of Artarmon. “It took a week or so to work out a routine that would allow me to train twice a day, maintain a full-time job and spend time with the family but I know it will all be worth it when I kick the other guy’s arse.”

Cheah and Ratcliff will not be the only ones stepping into the ring on the night.

Co-owner of VT1, Kirribilli resident Dylan Resnekov, 26, will also glove up to defend his Australian title in the headline fight.

“I want to bring home another title belt,” Resnekov said. He is confident he can better his performance last year that saw him take home the crown.

“I am in a good place right now,” he said. “Sure, there is a level of expectation but I am mentally and physically prepared. I know what I need to do to win.”
